

Why is the Treaty of Waitangi important for everyone in New Zealand?

Māori are the first people of Aotearoa / New Zealand. They call themselves tangata whenua – people of the land.

The Treaty of Waitangi is written in the Māori language, and called Te Tiriti o Waitangi.

In the Treaty of Waitangi, Māori allowed newcomers to settle here, so long as the settlers respected Māori sovereignty, land, language and culture.

All of us who have settled here can call ourselves tangata tiriti – people of the Treaty.

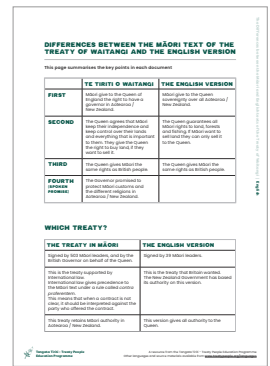

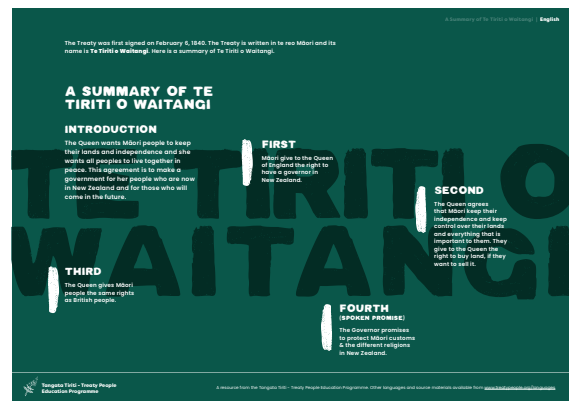

This is why we need to understand and respect the Treaty of Waitangi.

Do you want to learn more about the Treaty of Waitangi?

Contact us at treatypeople@gmail.com to book an education day for your community about the Treaty of Waitangi.

Download a summary of the Treaty in English

 www.treatypeople.org/languages

Email us to order a set of printed posters for your community.

 treatypeople@gmail.com

TREATY
FOR EVERYONE

Te Tiriti o Waitangi | English

The Treaty of Waitangi in Our Language

Learn about the Treaty of Waitangi in English – for communities, schools and families

Workshops | Videos | Downloads

Tangata Tiriti - Treaty People Education Programme